Popular Stars To Show In Lyric's Tuesday Attraction

Jack Oakie, Linda Darnell, George Murphy Featured In "Rise And Shine;" Second Hit To Be "Blondie Goes To College"

The antics of Jack Oakie, usually good for a laugh in themselves, are added to the various talents of Linda Darnell, George Murphy, Walter Brennan and Milton Berle in "Rise and Shine," the new Lyric feature commencing Tuesday. The second attraction, "Blondie Goes to College," starring Penny Singleton and Arthur Lake, tells a story of the Bumsteads' venture into the realm of higher learning. Showing for the last times Monday are "Stagecoach Express" and "The Panther's Claw."

"Tortilla Flat," starring Spencer Tracy, Hedy Lamarr and John Garfield, is the current film at the Ohio theatre. A Steinbeck story, the film removes its audience from the glamour of unreal idealists into a world of simple souls, in this case Mexican peons. Supporting performances of note are turned in by Frank Morgan, Akim Tamiroff and John Qualen.

The dashing stuff that made Jack London a favorite author of red-blooded book worms is shown in "Adventures of Martin Eden," which is one of his stories done over by the cinema folk. Glenn Ford has the title role, while Evelyn Keyes, Claire Trevor and Stuart Erwin share stellar honors. The co-feature, "Sweetheart of the Fleet," starring Jinx Falkenburg and Joan Woodbury, has something to do with the Navy.

"The Great Man's Lady," which has nothing to do with Eleanor, is now at the Sigma theatre, starring Barbara Stanwyck, Joel McCrea and Brian Donlevy. It is the tale of a fiery Philadelphia girl who elopes from her sheltered home with McCrea, to join him in a journey in the undeveloped west. Co-featured is "Our Russian Front," graphic evidence of the Soviet-Nazi frontier fighting.

Romance and high adventure are mingled in a timely and exciting drama, "Pacific Blackout," a story of two lovers in a great American West Coast city (name withheld) during a mock air raid and practice blackout, now at the State theatre. Robert Preston and Martha O'Driscoll have the starring roles. The co-feature, "Bahama Passage," stars Stirling Hayden and Madeleine Carroll in a romance of the islnds before their coasts became infected with periscopes.

Wrinkle-browed Douglas Fairbanks has a dual role in the current Drive In Theatre film, "Corsican Brothers," in which he appears as a pair of twins, separated at birth, but fantastically linked together by thought waves. A neat bit of villainy is served up by Akim Tamiroff.

The Majestic films are "Rise and Shine" and "Blondie Goes to College," both concluding Monday.

QUILNA

From Tahiti to Singapore, from Frisco to Cadiz, Martin Eden's flashing fists and indomitable courage made him legendary, according to the lusty, brawling, tempestuous novel by Jack London, himself a redoubtable and gigantic figure in American letters. And now, from the studios of Columbia Pictures, comes a challenging and superbly entertaining motion picture based upon London's greatest novel, a motion picture so packed with punch, so eloquent and so stirring as to move it immediately into the "hit" class.

"Adventures of Martin Eden," now at the Quilna theatre, is a triumph as much for its producers and director as it is for its cast, and, overshadowing them all, is the trenchant, triumphant picture of London himself.

Glenn Ford, the young and ever-brightening star, appears to perfection in the title role, modelling his characterization after London's Martin Eden, which, in turn, was modelled after London himself. Lover, adventurer, fighter against social injustice, poet and brawler, Ford's Martin Eden emerges as big as life, as lusty and blood-stirring and dynamic as a storm at sea.

Claire Trevor, Evelyn Keyes, Stuart Erwin and the others in the sensational cast are equally fitted to their difficult tasks, that of creating with understanding and sympathy men and women from divergent worlds, who can speak and understand the same language, a language of bare knuckles and indomitable courage, of glowing beauty and flaming romance.

LYRIC

Jack Oakie, the All-American chowderhead; George Murphy, the guy who rescues romance from the rumpus; Walter Brennan, a grandpa who romances the field; Linda Darnell, the loveliest love interest that ever gave a heart a lift — she sings, too — and Milton Berle, a whinnying Seabiscuit, are the fun mad people of Mark Hellinger's "Rise and Shine," the new musical comedy which dances into the Lyric theatre on Tuesday.

Set on a college campus at the height of the football season, "Rise and Shine" has several new Robin and Rainger songs, dances, girls, laughs and fun. And the story is taken from James Thurber's mad, mad autobiography—"My Life and Hard Times."

With Clayton college expecting its biggest year on the gridiron, football star Jack Oakie is sent to live at Professor Donald Meek's home.

On the scene comes Murphy, a former All-American, and Raymond Walburn and Ruth Donnelly, a down-at-the-heel couple posing as retired educators. Murphy goes for Linda Darnell and helps her keep Oakie in shape. When Sheldon Leonard wants the football player kept out of the big game, so he can bet on the opposition, Murphy rebels. He takes all precautions to protect Oakie, but the star is kidnaped the night before by Milton Berle—who portrays a character called "Seabiscuit." Oakie must be found or the big game will be lost! How he escapes makes a hilarious ending to a side-splitting comedy.

"Rise and Shine" is a riotous musical comedy which preview audiences have hailed.

BLINDNESS NO HANDICAP FOR OHIO INVENTOR

TIFFIN, O., June 8 — (UP) — Henry J. McFerren, blind Tiffin inventor and commercial refrigeration engineer, is a man who has made big money despite misfortune.

It was in 1921 that McFerren, then an express company employe with no bright future, was blinded by a Fourth of July burst of firecrackers.

He turned to invention, and his first one, a small automatic door closing device, was accepted immediately by the public.

From that start in 1925, he advanced rapidly to larger devices which are in use in many large refrigeration storage houses across the country.

McFerren does his own repairs to the installed devices altho he has an assistant, his "seeing eye," Herbert Crane, who drives him and takes care of his tools.

McFerren knows his equipment so well he tells by the "feel" just what is wrong and what is needed in the line of renovation.

Each year he travels 25,000 miles checking and servicing equipment all over the country.

WOMEN TO BE TRAINED IN AIR RAID WORK AT THREE-DAY INSTITUTE

Women with teaching experience, or those experienced as public speakers, will sign up for an institute to teach air raid protection for the home, which will be held at Lima Central High school on June 15, 16 and 17. The invitation to enroll has been extended to all northwest Ohio women by Miss Margaret E. Baker, director of Women Volunteers for Defense and Service for the Ohio State Council of Defense.

Registration for the course will start June 15 at 9 a. m. and classes will get under way at 9:30 a. m.

The institute covers three days of lecture and demonstration, not only by instructors furnished by the Ohio State Council of Defense but also by members of the local police and fire departments and members of the local defense council. Motion pictures demonstrating methods of air attacks and the handling of incendiary bombs will be shown. A demonstration of burning phosphorus, magnesium, thermit and other chemicals is included in the course.

About a week after completion of the 18-hour course, a written examination will be given and all those receiving a grade of 85 per cent will be certified as instructors for classes of housewives arranged by the various local defense councils.

The purpose of the instruction for the housewife is to promote intelligent cooperation with the air raid warden, to give her sufficient information to arrange the utmost security for her family and her home and to make her an asset instead of a liability to her community in the event of an air raid.

Subjects covered in the three-day course include: Civilian defense as the fourth line of defense, attacks on civilian populations from the air, how to eliminate fire hazards in the home, fire extinguishers and their uses, incendiary bombs and methods of handling them within the home, how to select and equip a shelter room, blackout materials, methods of protection against high explosive bombs, poison gases, how to gas proof a room, child psychology and the war and the responsibility of the householder to the air raid warden.

SWIM CLASS TO START AT Y. M. FOR YOUNG BOYS

One of the features of the summer program for boys at the Lima Y.M.C.A. the past several years has been the swimming class for boys 6 and 7 years of age. The class known as the Tadpole class will meet this summer twice weekly on Wednesday and Friday at 1:15 p. m. The first period will be held June 10 and the class closes with the opening of school.

Teaching the smaller "Tadpoles" calls for individual instruction and special skills in water conditioning and developing confidence in the water. Joe Shaffer, instructor at South High and former physical director at the "Y," will have charge of the class and will be assisted by junior lifeguards.

Other swimming classes for boys are scheduled on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings. A class for boys from the Children's Home is scheduled for 8:30; beginners instruction at 9:15; prep swimmers at 10:00; junior swimmers at 10:45. High school swimmers are scheduled for the evenings with classes at 7 p. m. on Monday and Thursday.

Frequent outings, hiking, biking, and camping trips are held thru out the summer to supplement the building program.
